

Caring, Kind, Generous

You probably know that when we care for others it makes the person we were kind to feel good. But did you know the person who did the kind act also feel good. When others are hurting we may do kind things for them because we feel bad for them. Caring for others and having others care for us helps make our fun times even greater and our sad times a little easier. Good friends care for one another. Do you care for your friends? Sometimes we have to practice caring so that it becomes a good habit.

Caring Do's

- ◆ Be kind to other people.
- ◆ Treat other like you want to be treated.
- ◆ Give to others.
- ◆ Think how your decisions will affect others.

Caring Don'ts

- ◆ Don't be selfish.
- ◆ Don't be mean.
- ◆ Don't be cruel.

What would a caring person do?

- Your little sister was running down the hill outside and fell and skinned her knee. What would a caring person do?

- One of your friends never gets dessert in his lunch box. Your mother always puts cookies in your lunch. What do you do?
- Your neighbor can no longer get out to pull weeds in her flowers. As a caring person, what will you do?
- Two of your classmates are teasing the new kid in your school about his clothes. What do you do?
- Your mom is sick today. The dishes from the day are in the kitchen sink. What would a caring person do?
