What is 4-H?

4-H is a community program open to all boys and girls, ages 8-18. It provides youth the opportunity to develop leadership, citizenship, and other essential life skills.

4-H projects offer fun, hands-on learning experiences. 4-H Cloverbuds is a special program for girls and boys, ages 5-7. Cloverbuds participate in group activities which promote personal development, healthy lifestyles, and good citizenship.

Most 4-H clubs meet monthly. 4-H members choose from more than 150 projects in visual arts, aerospace, animal science, sewing, foods and much more. University of Illinois Extension conducts the 4-H program. Volunteers work with Extension staff to bring 4-H to youth.

What is 4-H Foundation?
