

Food Plot 101

Saturday, March 6, 2010

9:30 am until 2 pm

402 Ava Road - Murphysboro, IL

---

Whether you enjoy photography, watching deer, turkey and other wildlife or hunting them, a food plot is a great asset to draw animals to your location. Are you looking to provide only a food source for observation at a certain time of year? Are you looking to hunt animals during bow or gun season? If so, plan to join us for this program and learn how to attract area wildlife.

AGENDA:

- Basic Needs of Animals
- Understanding Soil Testing and pH
- Understanding Fertilizers
- Equipment vs. Herbicides
- Planting Choices

Seating is limited. Pre-registration and fee of $25 accepted until March 1 or until capacity is reached. Fee includes lunch. Make checks payable to University of Illinois Extension and mail to 402 Ava Road, Murphysboro, IL . If you require a reasonable accommodation to attend, please indicate when registering. For other information, phone 687-1727.
