

Will a Soil Test Help in Establishing a New Lawn?

The answer is YES!

It is important to soil test a new lawn to see if the lime, phosphorous or potash levels are low in the soil. Soil samples should be taken well ahead of when you plan to work up the soil so there is time to receive the soil test results back from the lab. If fertilizer is needed, add it when the soil is worked to establish the lawn.