

When is the Ideal Time to Establish a Lawn in Southern Illinois?

The ideal time to establish a cool season grass is during the early fall. Under normal circumstances, any time in September is a good seeding time.

Soil moisture and temperatures are usually favorable for rapid grass establishment at that time. If the lawn is established in the spring, the homeowner needs to water the grass as needed through the summer and do a good job of controlling weeds.